The majestic red oak tree at 21 Beech Street is almost 300 years old and has witnessed so much Bowmanville history over that time.

Unfortunately it is possibly in danger of being lost to the arborist chain saw this summer.

This tree was here long before our earliest pioneers arrived.

Myself and others are taking steps to save this wonderful old tree. It sprouted from a little acorn in the year 1733 and has witnessed all of Bowmanville's history during that time. We have lost many irreplaceable parts of our local heritage in the past. The old Post Office building and the old Bank of Ontario come to mind. We can't allow anything to happen to this Bowmanville landmark. I know many of Bowmanville's citizens care deeply about and love this tree. We need Clarington Municipal Council to declare this tree as a heritage tree deserving of protection. An recent arborist's examination of the tree showed its health as good. Trimming and limb support can ensure the tree's continued good health and allow future generations can enjoy its beauty.
